Parents/Guardians of Morris Knolls and Morris Hills Students - Held in Morris Knolls Auditorium

Prevention is Key offers a program called Hidden in Plain Sight. This program is geared towards parents and caretakers. At the beginning, participants will be guided to walk around the room and try to find all the different diversion devices and other substances hidden in the room. It will be followed by a presentation going over the common trends that exist among youth using substances. As well as places in the bedroom that youth may hide substances. Parents will leave with an understanding of how to approach their child to talk about these topics and have productive conversations.
